July 1, 2008 marked the start of the new fiscal year for the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce as well as 22 years of supporting the community by promoting growth and strengthening economic development.

With more than 700 members, the Chamber has had a very successful year. Members have benefited from 42 networkings and 22 new business ribbon cuttings, a successful "Around the World" Dinner and Auction, 5K run, numerous Brown Bag Educational Lunches and the launch of its partnership with the Tennessee Small Business Development Center, which counsels small businesses on how to increase productivity and improve sales, at no cost to Chamber members.

The Chamber has also hosted three Speaker Series Breakfasts featuring United States Congressman Jimmy Duncan, University of Tennessee Basketball Coach Bruce Pearl and authors Dr. Bill Bass and Jon Jefferson of the "Body Farm" novels.

In addition, a new, sleeker, streamlined membership directory is ready for print. This directory features member ads and highlights Enterprise Club members with color photos throughout.

The Community Profile section of the Chamber Web site offers video testimonials of Chamber members with the new feature "My Farragut & West Knox." Also, Chamber members can look forward to a reconstructed Farragut West Knox Chamber Web site in the near future.

The Chamber has hosted two "New Member Orientations" at Baptist Hospital West/Baptist Hospital for Women. These morning sessions allow new members to meet with seasoned business veterans and Chamber President, Bettye Sisco in order to target areas where new businesses can reach their full potential.

The Ambassador Committee, some 25 strong, will soon celebrate its one-year anniversary. Having met monthly throughout the year at Gettysvue Golf Polo & Country Club, the Ambassadors have worked diligently to mentor new Chamber members and sponsor potential candidates.

As the new year begins, the Chamber is pleased to welcome new Board members and express appreciation to members who have served so graciously.

President Quotes 'n Notes

by Betty Sisco

"If you want to change something in life, you need to change something."

Dr. Martin Seligman, an authority on optimism, discovered that attitude was a better predictor of success than I.Q., education and most other factors. He found that positive people stay healthier, have better relationships, and can be more successful. Here are some attitudes of successful workers:

I am in charge of my destiny. Commit yourself to thinking about your career in a different way. You will be in charge of making it happen.

Anything is possible. Adopt the attitude of The Little Engine That Could -- "I think I can."

No task is too small to do well. Take pride in your work — all of it.

Everyone is a potential key contact. You can go far by being courteous to those around you. You never know when your past contacts will play a role in your future.

It's not just what I know, but who I know. Successful workers understand the importance of networking, both in and out of the office. Be proactive establishing contacts. Do your part to establish a networking path for your future.

What else can I do? Improve your professional self. Volunteer for an extra project. Learn a new skill that will make you more marketable. Stay late to help co-workers. Successful workers don't just complete the job and sign out — they look for additional ways to make their mark.

Failure will help pave the way to my success. The truth is everyone fails from time to time. The difference between successful and unsuccessful people is how they deal with failure. Those who find success are the ones who learn from mistakes and move on.

The good news is that you are not stuck with the attitude you have, you can always improve it. The bad news is that even positive attitude is not permanent. You may lose it.

If your attitude is not getting you what you want you can always change it. Decide and commit to bring change, and have faith in yourself.

Table Tops

Leslie Tucker

One of my dreams has long been to fill up my passport with stamps from countries across the globe. Farragut West Knox Chamber members were issued special passports for its global auction last month that took guests Around the World Chamber Style! Rothchild's Catering was transformed into an international playground brimming with exotic sights and sounds. Much of the ambience stemmed from the decorations atop the room's 25 tables created by Chamber members. Each was unique, colorful and offered goodies to each partygoer randomly chosen to sit at each table. Here are some highlights:

Above the Rest Event Designs took a cue from their name and hung a little pagoda above its Japanese-inspired table. Cookies by Design incorporated its yummy treats into a centerpiece that called for peace on Earth. Enrichment Federal Credit Union transported members to the Outback as they dined beneath a tower of wildlife native to Australia. Guests sitting at the Homewood Residence at Deane Hill table were treated to a taste of the tropics beneath a massive palm tree. Tiki torches, sand buckets and rum completed the look. Homewood Suites by Hilton at Turkey Creek got members ready for the Beijing Olympics with a table topped with a beautiful Chinese umbrella and hanging paper lanterns.

Jameson Inn was inspired by the land of windmills of tulips and created a table incorporating both. FSG Bank hosted an English tea party; a dainty tea cup and saucer awaited the arrival of each guest. Chocolate lovers got a treat if they sat at Thierry Sommer & Associates' table with an edible Schokolad centerpiece. WIVK 107.7's table illustrated that there's no place like home. It was decorated with all things Knoxville. Y-12 Federal Credit Union's smart design offered ways to make your travels easier and more comfortable. The centerpiece featured such essentials as a navigation system, camera and travel alarm clock. When all was said and done, the "Best Dressed Table" award was presented to Dianna Glandon of Above the Rest Balloon & Event Designs. Kudos to all of the tabletop participants.

It was so much fun to travel Around the World Chamber Style for my final Who's Who article. It's been such a pleasure to get to know many of you and be a part of such a wonderful group. Bonne chance!
